was decorated with flowers.

Earlier in the morning the monument erected to the solidiers who had died in the hospital here from wounds and disease, one of the first in Virginia, was visited and decorated with garlands and flowers. A committee also visited Longwood Cemetery, where a large number of the soldler boys of Bedford are sleeping, decorating each of the graves. Not long ago markers were placed at the graves there with the names and command of each by the W. R. T. Chapter, U. D. C.

The climax of the day was the dinner served by the women to the soldlers at the Alliance Warehouse, kindly loaned by Wm. H. Dooley, and converted into a banquet hall, where comfortably scated at tables, the old soldiers were served a feast.
